

Revised History

Is Tony Fauci Really a Leftist Radical?

By Al Benson August 2, 2020

Over the weekend I watched a video of Congressman Jim Jordan's questioning of Dr. Anthony Fauci and after viewing it I came away with the distinct impression that if Dr. Fauci is not a leftist radical that he at least has a very warm regard for what they stand for and what they are doing. Thankfully I am not alone in this viewpoint.

Fauci was asked by Jim Jordan if the recent BLM-sponsored protests were bad, in light of Fauci's warnings about crowd situations. Fauci went out of his way to avoid any criticisms of these protests. He has no problem advocating that churches be shut down or that people be prevented from reopening their businesses but he just could not bring himself to directly speak against these leftist protests. He mumbled some platitude about crowd situations being bad in general—but definitely no complaint against those leftist protests in any concrete way. He just doesn't have that in him and understanding a bit about his background you can see why.

So I did a bit of looking around regarding Dr. Fauci. There's some interesting stuff out there, quite a bit of it. Too much to list it all here.

I ran across an article for April 9th of this year on <https://www.bizpacreview.com> by Vivek Saxena, the headline for which was Doting letters, donations raise eyebrows over Dr. Fauci's devotion to Hillary Clinton.

The article noted that "National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Disease Director Dr. Anthony Fauci's ties to former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton have raised concerns among some conservatives about his objectivity as the Trump administration's coronavirus point man. Those ties have been documented through various pieces of 'evidence' by conservative investigators, including New York Post contributor Paul Sperry. The latest piece of 'evidence' is FEC documentation reportedly showing that Fauci's wife donated $1,200 to Clinton's 2016 presidential campaign." I don't know why he used the word evidence in quotes the way he did. I have read a fair bit of Paul Sperry's commentary over the years and always found him to be pretty much on target.

In referring to testimony Hillary gave regarding the Benghazi debacle Fauci wrote "She faced extremely difficult circumstances at the Hearings and still she hit it right out of the park. Please tell her that we all love her and are very proud to know her." Pardon me for saying so but that's a lot of balderdash! One man who sent an email about all this wrote: "If you need further evidence that the public health bureaucracy is run by democrats...here is Anthony Fauci's love letter to Hillary Clinton re her Senate Benghazi testimony" and he notes the same letter I referred to above.

And a Chuck Woolery also emailed: "Is there anyone on stage with President Trump that doesn't or hasn't had a relationship with the Clintons? Dr. Burkes (Birn) husband also worked for the Clintons. We know Fauci was a supporter of Hillary. What are these people cooking up?" Good question! What they might be cooking up is ways to make sure Trump looks bad before the next election. And the article by Saxena observes: "While conspiratorial in nature, these observations are rooted in the legitimate concern that Fauci and Birn have been providing poor advice to President Donald Trump."

Then there was an article on <https://bustaroll.org> which stated: "Several photographs have now been unearthed that show Fauci and his wife in various social situations alongside both Bill and Hillary Clinton. That may be because Dr. Fauci has worked for 6 administrations over the past 30 or so years, but this connection was obviously not known by the White House at the time of his hiring. Further investigation has revealed that Dr. Fauci is actually on the payroll of the Clinton Foundation, and has been for more than 20 years.”

And Arthur Thompson, in his new book China–The Deep States Trojan Horse in America tells us, on page 101, that “Dr. Fauci, in his responsibility as the federal infections disease leader, gave $3.7 million of United States taxpayer’s money to the Wuhan laboratory for coronavirus development—after the U.S. declared a moratorium on such funding...”

So I would say that, all in all, conservatives and patriots have good reason to be concerned about what Dr. Fauci is really doing. Mr. Trump needs to be concerned too. Maybe it is time for Trump to find someone other than Fauci to head up his efforts at combatting this Chinese virus.