

Revised History

The Rot Goes Really Deep—

Secession May Be The Only Answer

By Al Benson December 12, 2020

Folks, the spiritual and political rot in this country goes lots deeper than many of us thought. It seems to go all the way down from the Supreme Court, to many of the lower courts and state legislatures. There seems to be a concerted effort at all levels to steal the election from Trump and to coronate the Harris/Biden ticket no matter what. The fix is in and no one, so it seems, has either the guts or the will to fight back. So much easier just to let Biden and his potential Marxist running mate take over and then many of them will gripe when that does not work out the way they thought it would.

Anyone who honestly thinks you can play patty cake with the Marxists has got mush for brains.

According to <https://nationalfile.com> twenty states have joined the state of Texas in asking the Supreme Court to challenge the fraudulent elections in Pennsylvania, Georgia, Michigan, and Wisconsin. These states represent the real heart of the country.

But you know what? The Supreme Court just ain't interested. They tossed the Texas lawsuit. They didn't reject the merits of the case—they rejected it on “standing” Rudy Giuliani said the Supreme Court made a “terrible, terrible mistake” when they refused to hear the Texas case. He said this evidence of voter fraud “will remain an open sore in our history” if it is not addressed. Giuliani is now going to try to bring the case up in the District Court. Who knows how much success he will have there? He noted “Because the worst part of this is, basically, the courts are saying they want to stay out of this, and they don't want to give us a hearing. They don't want the American people to hear these facts and I think that's a terrible, terrible mistake.”

If you think I am being hard on the Supreme Court, you should see what Becky Akers says about them on <https://www.lewrockwell.com> on December 12th. She noted in her comments that Things have changed in the last few hours. The Supreme Court have upheld the recent election steal and Joe Biden will be president on January 20th. All that is left is a secession movement of Red States. From the beginning of this electoral charade, I never understood why patriots believe the Court would rule in favor of decency and fairness. Does it ever? The Supreme Court are Leviathan's creatures and always have been—all of them. Whether they're conservative or Marxist, they don't descend to that level without cooperating and even enthusiastically endorsing the State's wickedness...”

There is that nagging secession question again. For some folks who don't want to hear it, it just never quite seems to go away. When I used to talk about secession back in the late 90s many of the people, I worked with laughed at me. They thought it was ludicrous—and they were patriotic folks, but it seems that they had bought into this apostate “One Nation Indivisible” claptrap in the Unitarian Pledge of Allegiance. But since then, the secession question has refused to go away. I wonder if they are still laughing.

The Zero Hedge website for December 12 noted that “Texas Republican Party Chairman Allen West is fuming after the Supreme Court denied the state's bid to challenge Joe Biden's wins in Pennsylvania, Georgia, Wisconsin and Michigan—and has suggested what sounds a lot like secession.”

West observed, and accurately so, “The Supreme Court, in tossing the Texas lawsuit that was joined by seventeen states and 106 US congressmen, have decreed that a state can take unconstitutional actions and violate its own election law. Resulting in damaging effects on other states that abide by the law, while the guilty state suffers no consequences. This decision establishes a precedent that says states can violate the US constitution and not be held accountable.” Mr. West is right. But you know something? From the Supreme Court on down, the courts don’t give a tinker’s damn whether the Constitution is violated or not. The important thing—the only thing that matters—is to get the Harris/Biden duo into office so they can work their Marxist miracles on the American public! That agenda must not be prevented no matter what!!!

West added, in concluding his remarks “This decision will have far reaching ramifications for the future of our constitutional republic. Perhaps the law-aiding states should band together and form a Union of states that will abide by the constitution.”

The thought comes to me—suppose “sleepy Joe Biden” and his Marxist running mate end up being the Abraham Lincoln of our day and cause the secession of several states that are opposed to their Marxist agenda? Does some of our history repeat itself? I don’t pretend to know—but one thing I do know—whether soon or late—the secession question is not going away any time soon.