How About Some “Woke” Frosted Flakes With Your Synthetic Beef?

By Al Benson May 18, 2021

Many folks mistakenly think that big business and big communism are at odds with each other. In real life nothing could be further from the truth. Often, big business types use communism in some form to promote their agenda. I have mentioned some of this from the book The Strawberry Statement—Notes of a College Revolutionary in a recent article as well as several times before. Another place this has been noted is in the informative book The Rockefeller File by the late Gary Allen, which I believe you can now find on the internet and read for nothing. Both of these sources demonstrate the affinity big business often has for the political left—almost “kissin’ cousins” as it were.

So, it should come as no great surprise that the Kellogg company has now introduces a new “Woke transgender cereal” for your kids to be propagandized by as the consume it. Suffice it to say that I consider doing this to kids to be some form of SICK! There are several articles on the internet about this. Seems that Kellogg started trying to do this sort of thing back in 2019. I don’t know if that effort bombed or not, but either way, they are back with it again this year.

The article I noted this on was on <https://storywarrant.com> for May 15th of this year and the writer was Warner Todd Huston. Mr. Huston wrote: “The newest corporation to indulge workerism is (the) cereal company Kellogg’s which has just launched a cereal to push transgenderism on kids. The new flavor is an amalgam of several of their cereal brands all in the same box called ‘All Together.’ Not only does this push the woke LGBTQ agenda, but it also gives kids a spot to write their own ‘pronouns’ on the box.” And Huston also notes “According to gay website Advocate: Retailing for $4, Together With Pride will be on supermarket shelves in May, just prior to the month of LGBTQ+festivities. For every purchase Kellogg’s will donate $3 too GLAAD. For the donation to occur, patrons must upload a copy of their receipt to KelloggsFamilyRewards.com What a wonderful way for you to help subsidize the destruction of your family! And there will be parents that actually go along with this leftist insanity! And you wonder why this country is in trouble.

Huston observes, in closing, that “There is nothing new here, at least for Kellogg’s. This company has spent billions funding hardcore left-wing causes for decades. And they do this limited-edition gay cereal dealio just about every year.”

I didn’t realize that but then, I don’t pay lots of attention to breakfast cereals. A friend at church told me about this and I checked it out on the internet. Shows you that you are never too old to learn. And the political and theological left is always looking for ways to tear down and destroy the family. That is one of their main agendas, going all the way back to Marx—and before. That they do this should surprise no one—and that big business is so willing to aid them in this endeavor should surprise no one. Time to wake up and smell the coffee!

For those who wonder what they can do about this, for one thing you can start refusing to buy any Kellogg’s products at all. Do not subsidize the ruination of your family by supporting Kellogg’s left-wing agenda. Boycott their products and let your friends know what they are doing so they can begin to boycott their products. A company that is willing to push this kind of tripe on kids does not deserve the support of families—most particularly Christian families.

If Kellogg's had to depend for its sustenance on the sodomite community it would probably wither on the vine. It depends on ordinary people who have no idea what Kellogg's is trying to do to their families with this stuff. Let's work to deprive Kellogg's of the support of good, God-fearing folks who should not subsidize this leftist hogwash.
