Is Hillary Feeling The Heat?

By Al Benson March 10th, 2022

I've noticed as the Durham probe grinds along that the names of more and more people we never heard of keep surfacing regarding them helping Hillary Clinton to spy on the Trump Campaign back in 2016.

Hillary issued a statement denying all this of course, but anyone who knows anything about her knows she is prevaricating and that she is completely capable of having the Trump campaign spied on. She never acknowledged that she lost that election. She thinks she is entitled to the presidency as though it was her crown right. But she must be feeling some heat from the slowly unfolding revelations about her spying that are emerging. She issued a terse comment accusing both Fox News and Trump of engaging in "conspiracy theories" in order to cover up what they had been doing—whatever that is. Talk about the pot calling the kettle black! I have no doubt that before the Durham probe is finished there will be more than enough evidence to convict Hillary's campaign of having spied on the Trump campaign in 2016—illegally! The question is—will she ever be held to account for it?
